About STANDout

sustainable trade fair construction

Ecological, sustainable planning, production and assembly logistics enjoy high priority in our group of companies. Exhibition stands or event structures consist largely of reused and recyclable components and materials. Standout was the first Austrian stand construction company to be awarded the Austrian Eco-label by the Federal Ministry for the Environment for some prefabricated stand variants.

system-based EXPO construction

conventional kit system

Conventional kit systems provide a cost-efficient and functional option for the production of the ideal expo booth.

Modular construction enables booth designs to be implemented affordably, with the flexibility to be adapted in shape and aesthetics to a variety of floor space dimensions and hall heights, and facilitating a uniform corporate look at every event. A modular system stand can be used multiple times, offers versatility in terms of design, and can be extended quickly and easily.

VARIO

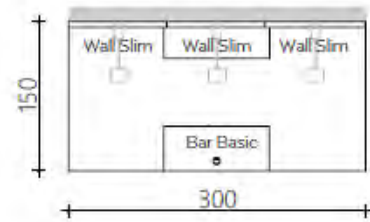

As easy as children's building blocks. As distinctive as your company.

Admittedly, the individual modules in the Vario series are reminiscent of building blocks. That's our intention! After all, the Vario system has been conceptualised to give you as much – if not more – creative freedom to design exactly the expo booth you require.

This ensures your expo look is absolutely distinctive, and your business makes a lasting impression on visitors to the show.
